Quid Pro LLC. Paperback. Book Condition: New. Paperback. 180 pages. Dimensions: 8.9in. x 6.0in. x 0.6in. A new collection of compelling and challenging essays from one of the nations leading voices on criminal justice reform, Reducing Crime, Reducing Incarceration makes the argument that sometimes small changes on the ground can add up to big improvements in the criminal justice system. How do you launch a new criminal justice reform? How do you measure impact? Is it possible to spread new practices to resistant audiences? And what's the point of small-bore experimentation anyway? Greg Berman answers these questions by telling the story of successful experiments like the Red Hook Community Justice Center in Brooklyn and by detailing the challenges of implementing new ideas within the criminal justice system. As Laurie Robinson, a professor at George Mason University, writes in her introduction: Berman offers vivid testimony that even in the face of opposition it is, in fact, possible to push our criminal justice system closer to realizing its highest ideals. And that, indeed, is good news. Other experts share their opinions: The central insight of Reducing Crime, Reducing Incarceration is that small tweaks in practice within the criminal justice system can sometimes lead to big change on the streets. By telling the story of the Red Hook Community Justice Center and similar innovations, Greg Berman offers a hopeful message: criminal justice reform at the local level can make a difference. James B. Jacobs Warren E. Burger Professor of Law New York University School of Law Innovation is hard work. In Reducing Crime, Reducing Incarceration, Berman offers a look at how change happens at the local level and how, sometimes, it doesn't. These well-written essays offer a compelling vision of both the challenges and opportunities of criminal justice reform. Nicholas Turner President, Vera Institute of Justice The...
