It is a city of 6725 population, lying two miles south of Milwaukee. Besides the meat-packing plant, it has one of the largest rubber factories in the state, employing upwards of 1,500 persons. There are also large concerns engaged in making mining machinery, drop forgings, gloves and mittens, etc. Near the city, in the suburb of Carrollville, is a glue factory employing 400 persons. Wauwatosa Wauwatosa is a residence suburb a few miles west of Milwaukee and connected with it by trolley and railroad lines. It has a population of about 6000 and has five industries of moderate size, including a tannery which employs about 150 persons. The village began in the early forties; a flour mill was built there in 1843 and continued to operate by water power until 1876, when steam power was installed. The earliest quarrying and lime-burning operations in this part of the state began here in 1835. These quarries long supplied limestone used for flux in the iron smelters at Bay View. Wauwatosa township has some of the most important limestone quarries in the state and also for a long time several of the leading brick yards. However, it is rather a place of homes than a place of factories. North Milwaukee North Milwaukee is a manufacturing suburb of over 3,000 population with several plants of considerable size, including two bridge companies, a tannery, and factories for the manufacture of automobile bodies, stoves and machinery.
