Truth To Tell: Tell It Early, Tell It All, Tell It Yourself: Notes from My White House Education

By Lanny J. Davis

Free Press. Paperback. Book Condition: New. This item is printed on demand. Paperback. 284 pages. On a November afternoon in 1996, Lanny Davis got a phone call that would change his life. It was from a top aide at the White House, asking him if he was interested in joining the presidents senior staff. Within a few short weeks he had signed on as special counsel to the president. Fourteen months later, his tour of duty almost over, he got another phone call, this time from a Washington Post reporter who asked, Have you ever heard the name Monica Lewinsky In the time between those two phone calls, Davis received an extraordinary political education. As President Bill Clintons chief spokesman for handling scandal matters he had the unenviable job of briefing reporters and answering their pointed questions on the most embarrassing allegations against the president and his aides, from charges of renting out the Lincoln Bedroom, to stories of selling plots in Arlington Cemetery, from irregular campaign fundraising to sexual improprieties. He was the White Houses first line of defense against the press corps and the reporters first point of entry to an increasingly reticent administration. His delicate task was...
